

Mozaik

Design by Mark Gabbertas

The Mozaik seating family is made up of three principal shapes. A small soft square stool and soft rectangular bench available in two heights and a large low soft square stool. The two heights of upholstered unit allow for different seating styles that in turn facilitate different patterns of behaviour, function and interaction. But their dual heights also suggest the function of the higher unit as a space division, a surface for a device, a support for the user's back or arm or a place to perch.

Design Mark Gabbertas

Yorkshire born Mark Gabbertas graduated from Durham University with a degree in Political Philosophy. After eight years as an account manager at the advertising agency Saatchi and Saatchi Mark was ready for a change. In 1990 he left advertising to follow his passion and trained as a cabinet maker. After only two years training, Mark, set up on his own company and was commissioned to design the furniture for the Atelier restaurant in Soho, that won the FX Furniture in Practice award in 1995.
